GRAND CHILDREN RECEIVE BULK STURTEVANT ESTATE

Under the will of the late Andrew J. Sturtevant of Pilot Rock, his six grand children are made the principal beneficiaries and ultimately will secure practically the whole of the entire estate estimated to consist of $25,000 worth of real property and $17,000 worth of personal property. The right of all the heirs to share in the estate is made contingent upon their acceptance of its provisions. In case any one of them take steps to annul it or contest it, he or she shall thereby lose all title to any of the estate.

Mark A. Sturtevant, only son of the deceased pioneer, is left $500 in cash and is given the use of the farm, known as the Burk place, during his life. At his death it is to be divided between his two sons, Andrew and Clark.

The four other grandchildren are Esther and Fay, daughters of Clark Sturtevant, deceased, and Vivian and Lowell, children of Mark Sturtevant. Each of the six is to receive $15 after attainment of the age of 21. All of the other real and personal property is to be held in trust by two executors, F. J. Tweedy and Herbert Boylen, until the youngest of the grandchildren shall reach the age of 21 when a division is to be made, share and share alike.

The will was made in Dec. 29, 1911, and was witnessed by Dr. C. J. Smith and Dr. E. O. Parker.

Dentist Finds New Germ.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 7.—The germ which causes pyorrhea and a cure for the disease has been discovered by Dr. Michael F. Barrett of this city, according to an announcement made at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Dental Society. The germ, he says, is an animal similar to that which causes dysentery. Emittine, a component part of Ipecac, which Dr. Edward Vedders by experiments in the Philippine Islands discovered to be a cure for the latter disease, was used successfully by Dr. Barrett in the treatment of forty-six cases of pyorrhea in the Philadelphia hospital.

In his experiments Dr. Barrett was assisted by Dr. Allen J. Smith, discoverer of the hook worm.

WILLIE RITCHIE, LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION OF AMERICA, AS FIGHTER AND AS GENTLEMAN.

Dressed for the Opera.

Ready to Drop His Short Straight Right to the Jaw.

Willie Ritchie expects to be hailed lightweight champion of the world today, the date of his twenty round contest with Freddy Welsh, the British champion. Of course, Willie would probably insist that he is now champion of the world, and many persons who accept the prizefighters' estimates of themselves credit him with the title. Those persons who have watched him and Welsh have little doubt that

Ritchie will return to the United States the world's champion. They think he can whip any lightweight living. Welsh beat him once in Los Angeles. At a moment's notice, and of course, without opportunity to train, Ritchie was called on to take the place of Ad Wolgast, who had been stricken with appendicitis. He jumped into the ring and lost the decision. He was then a novice, and Welch was a finished professional.
